

Welcome back Year 2!

I hope you enjoyed some treats from the Easter Bunny and are now eager to start home learning again.

For English, this week we are going to look at Julia Donaldson's characters including my favourite the Gruffalo. Click on Home Learning - Books of the Week and scroll down to pages 2 and 3 to find some tasks to try. Julia Donaldson uses lots of noun phrases to describe her characters, e.g. big bad mouse; terrible whiskers; purple prickles all over his back; poisonous wart at the end of his nose. Keep a look out for them! Try to use some in your writing. Remember to use all the punctuation we have learnt this year. Don't worry if you don't do all the tasks, these are just some ideas for you and your grown up.

When we were learning about plants, we put some carrot tops in water to regrow. Unfortunately, we didn't have time to watch what happened. Why don't you try it at home? Put the tops of some carrots in a layer of water and watch what happens. You could keep a carrot diary with pictures as well as words! I have put some more plant activities to do on Science Bug.

Ask your grown up to write some times and divide sums down for you all muddled up. Remember times means groups of and divide means share. If you are unsure, use an array to work out the answers.

Enjoy!
