

Hi Reception!

It was a bit of a shock last week when the sun didn't shine every day! The seeds you might have planted would have liked it though. Don't forget to email any lovely work you want to share with me to

k.wells@greenlands.lancs.sch.uk

Keep practising your reading and phonics.

Miss Wells. X

This week's stories explore feelings. The first book is about a Colour Monster who wakes up feeling very confused! I wonder which feeling you will choose to draw and write a sentence about. Go to the 'Book of the week' tab and see what other activities there are for you to do.

Do you remember when we mixed colours together to make our own shade of orange, green or purple? The M&M investigation explores colour and is amazing! Find the link on the Book of the Week planning and have a go. What colours did you see? What happened when the colours mixed together?

You could try a bit of chromatography using felt pens, paper and water to find out more about colour. Some of the colours will separate into different colours when you add water. These children have used the paper to make butterflies.

There are lots of fun things to do to practise the days of the week. The rainbow challenge sounds like a good one to me. Write a list of something you will do each day to help someone or make them happy. <https://whiterosemaths.com/homelearning/early-years/>

